

in those (waters) desirous of conception, which yield
bright milk.

6. ¹ Bring near to us those who stand aloof, strike terror into our foes; pure-flowing one, tbon dost transfer to us their riches.

7. Destroy, Soma, the vigoui, the energy, the subsistence of our enemy, whether he be far off or nigh.

XX. (XX.)

ii, deity and metre as "before.

8. ² The seer passes through the woollen fleece for the beverage of the gods, triumphing over all adversaries*

9. Verily he, the pure-flowing, bestows upon his praisers thousands of victuals with cattle.

10. By thy favour thou givest to us all kinds of wealth, thou flowest at our praise; grant us, O
Soma, food.

11. Bestow upon us great renown, grant durable riches to those who are profuse in their libations,
bring food to thy praisers.

12. Purified one, doer of good deeds, thou, Soma, enterest our praises like a king, O wonderful bearer
(of our offerings).

13. Sorna, the bearer (of oblations), abiding in the waters of the firmament, difficult to be sur-

¹ Samr.Yeda, II. 1.2. 18. 1.

¹ Sama Yeda, II. 3. 2. 4. 1-7,